

“As banks fail, credit unions deserve a look.” — News Observer

“Forget banks, join the credit union.” — West Orlando News

“Ditch your bank for a credit union.” — MSN Money

“Wall Street turmoil is credit unions’ ‘golden opportunity.’” — Seattle Times

“Who says you have to settle for a bank? Relief could be as close as the nearest credit union.”
— MSN Money

“Oregon credit unions boom as lenders flee some banks.” — The Oregonian

“Anxious consumers, looking for safe havens for their money, are steering millions of dollars into Oregon’s credit unions.” — The Oregonian

“Credit unions are gaining recognition among consumers for not only having avoided the problems that created today’s financial mess, but for being a huge part of the solution.”
— West Orlando News

“Local credit unions benefit from customer ‘exodus’ from national banks.”

— Register Pajaronian

“Credit unions, having escaped the financial crisis, are chipping away at their larger rivals’ customer base.” — TheStreet.com

“If there’s a calm in the economic storm, it may be credit unions, whose investors are sleeping through the night.” — CNN’s Susan Lisovicz

“Most of the folks I talk to who have abandoned banks for credit unions are thrilled they made the switch. If you’re sick of your bank, why don’t you follow suit?” — MSN Money

“If you want to own part of the financial institution that you do business with without buying their stock, it’s time to look at a credit union.” — The Star Ledger

“Data show credit unions to be an appropriate, safe choice among financial institutions.”

— The Washington Post

“This is a good time to consider an alternative to for-profit private banks—like credit unions.”

— Lifehacker (the 6th most-respected website on the internet)